THE CENSUS. GET READY FOR THE ENUMERATOR.

Powell, Milier and Snyder "Bounced"—Replaced With Better Men. Suspervisor of the Census H. C. Snow den, continued his inquiries on Saturday afternoon regarding the popular objections to his especially offensive appointments of Samuel Powell, of the Third ward; Fred Miller of the Seventh; and Adam Snyder of the Eighth, as census enumerators in this city. His inquiries satisfied him that the objections were well founded and resulted in the official action which is thus communicated by him to the INTELLIGEN-

Adam Snyder, enumerator of 160th district, part of 8th ward, Lancaster city. has resigned, and Christopher A. Oblender is appointed in his place. Joseph M. Kreider takes the place of Sam'l A. Powell in 151st district, part of 3d ward, and Joseph Clarkson, that of Frederick Miller, 158th district, part of 7th ward. These gentlemen were sworn in before Judge Livingston on Saturday evening.

It is generally understood that Snyder's resignation was compelled and that some of the local Republican politicians vainly made a most earnest effort for his retention, even if Miller and Powell had to

The new appointees are well known as entirely competent persons ; Kreider and Oblender are Democrats and Clarkson a conservative Republican. They are all well qualified and of high personal character. Mr. Snowden's action meets with universal approval among all the better class of citizens, and is contrasted with Judge Patterson's to the disadvantage of that great and good man.

The Republican rioters were discharged from jail at an early hour to-day.

Messrs, Clarkson, Oblender and Kreider, together with the other city enumerators, begin their work to-morrow. Citizens may expect to be called upon and should be ready to promptly give the necessary information. It is suggested that proprictors of boarding houses and hotels either fix an hour for all their guests to be on hand to answer the interrogatories, or procure answers to them and furnish the same lowing abstract of the Enumerators' Rights and Duties.

The instructions especially define it to be "the duty of an enumerator, in the exercise of his authority to visit houses and interrogate members of families resident therem as provided by law, to use great courtesy and consideration. A rude, per emptory or overbearing demeanor would not only be a wrong to the families visited. but would work an injury to the census, by rendering the members of those families less disposed to give information with fullness and exactness. It is entirely possible for the enumerator to be prompt, rapid and decisive in announcing his object and his authority, and in going through the whole list of questions to be proposed, and at the same time not to arouse any antagonism or give any offense." The questions must be or not, under a penalty of $300.

The questions are divided into schedules without the shadow of a foundation. and arranged in columns under appropriate heads. Schedule number one is the population, or family schedule. The enumerators must visit each family in every house and set down the name of every man, woman and child who, on the first day of June, 1880, shall have his or her usual place of abode therein. No child born between June 1 and the day of the enumerator's visit is to be recorded, but all persons who have died between those dates must be enumerated. The first column contains the number of the house, the second the number of persons in the family, the third their names, the fourth, fifth and sixth their ages, sex and color. Column thirteen relates to occupation, in regard to which the enumerator will need to ask several questions in order to get his information in definite shape. Column twenty-four relates to the birth of each person named, which must also be given accurately. The relationship of all members of families must be distinctly stated, their civil condition, whether married, widowed or single; the question as to whether naturalized or alien must be answered by all persons of foreign birth, and the question will also be asked as to the physical condition of every inhabitant of a house, whether active or disabled, maimed, crippled, bedridden, deaf, dumb, blind, insane or idiotic. This embodies about all the questions which will be asked from house to house, but schedule number 2, relating to agriculture, contains a very full list of inquiries about farms, stock, implements and crops. Other schedules relate to business and industry, others again to railroads and other corporations, the object being to get complete returns in regard to every part of our material resources.

On Saturday evening a festival was held in the M. E. church to raise funds for the purchase of an organ for the use of the church and the Sunday school. The following official notice should appear in the advertising columns of the party organs at an early day.

LIMITED PARTNERSHIP.—The undersigned have formed a partnership (limited) under the laws of Pennsylvania, in the name, style and title of Eshleman, Brown & Co., for the protection of primary election rioters, "the best workers of the ward," and all other criminal classes which are useful to the firm in defrauding the Republican people out of the control of the party organization.

The firm postesses peculiar facilities for affording protection to the class of criminals before named, as has been shown in the case of the Snyder indictment and the more delicate but not less successful release of Miller and Powell, who were hastened out of prison to accept political honors this firm secured for them. The firm respectfully refers to Hon. D. W. Patterson, assistant law judge for the county of Lancaster, whose friendly offices in aid of the business of the firm are profoundly appreciated.

These are the best finished and most durable in the market, and in recommending them to the trade this company (whose representations are always reliable) claim for them the fellowing merits: The base of the Gorham electro-plate is of nickel silver. The silver-plated wares made upon this base combine all the excellence of the solid silver goods except the intrinsic value of the silver itself. One of the remarkable features of the process of electro-plating is perfect accuracy and delicacy with which the finest line of the engraving or chasing traced on the surface of the nickel base is reproduced on the surface of the silver coating. Thus all the excellence of workmanship which has earned for the company its reputation as makers of sterling silver goods is made tributary to the production of unsurpassed electro-plate. The quantity of pure silver deposited on the finely finished base exceeds that upon the best of foreign plate. This ware would be excellent and take a fine polish without a coating of silver, yet upon it is laid a silver surface which will if not abused last more than a generation. The object is to produce plated ware which shall have all the beauty of the solid wares. This high grade of ware is undistinguishable from work in Sterling silver. Its pattern, ernaments and workmanship are made equal to those for which the Company's Sterling Silverware has been so highly commended. To these conditions is added the undefinable air or style which distinguishes the genuine in everything from the work of imitators and which naturally transfers itself from the Sterling to the plated ware."
